Introduction

As a result of restrictions of de facto govt running Afghanistan, women are banned from job, from school and universities and social life. Women suffer from a significant high-rate maternal mortality, they are the majority of the people internally displaced and they are also vulnerable to sexual violence including: rape, sexual harassment, trafficking, forced prostitution, and forced marriage. The lack of proper access to healthcare services, education and employment opportunities also forced their migration.

We would like to discuss with the new generation of Afghan women living in Italy:

- How Afghan women all over the world can cooperate and could help Afghan women and girls inside and outside the country?
- Which are the opportunities and the way for further cooperation and coordination?
- How we can make and enhance networking and strategic Dialogue between Afghan women inside the country and beyond.

We all are also aware that women and girls who live under the de facto Taliban government, are treated as second class citizen, totally erased from society.

Iranian and Afghan women activists and legal expert on Human rights over the world has name this behaviour "Gender Apartheid".

Gender Apartheid is a new concept and it is not recognized at international level as a crime to include severe forms of institutionalized gender-based discrimination.

What do you think about this concept? How to apply the legal definition of "gender apartheid" under international and/or national laws? How to make it real?

We will discuss these matters with the young generation of afghan women living all over the world and in Italy.
